> SINGULAR .-- On the afternoon of Friday, July 1st, while a cow belonging to Mr. John Campbell was grazing in a pasture field during the prevalence of a rain storm, she was struck by lightning and knocked down. Mr. William Mintoff was sitting in the door of his house and noticed the cow, heard her make a peculiar noise and saw her fall. On examination of the animal it was found that one of her horns was completely torn off her head, the horn or shell being separated from the pith which was left. The singularity of the occurrence consists in the fact that the cow was grazing in a field where there was no timber whatever, and that the horn was wrenched off by the bolt, without being either split or broken. The information was given us by Mr. who says that she seemed to suffer no serious inconvenience from the shock. Mr. Campbell lives near the Company coal banks, on the Baltimore and Ohio
